

XL

The service you've been waiting for

TPN XL allows you to book your specialist freight in as normal and it will still be delivered within an agreed time window. Both the freight and your customer will be handled with the same high standards that TPN is renowned for. The difference is that we will dedicate the day-time Hub operation to such freight, bringing you the following benefits:

- Our service and operation will be specifically geared up for your specialist requirements.
- Our Members can properly plan for both the needs and the capacity required for your freight, making deliveries more accurate, more reliable and more supportive of your business.
- The new service will allow the Member delivering the goods to plan ahead with your customer about access arrangements, safe unloading and other delivery considerations, making receipt a hassle-free and dependable experience.
- We are the only network to be offering a dedicated service for specialist freight.

TPN essential facts

In 2017 TPN delivered over 75,000 pallets a week for businesses like yours. Our award-winning IT integrates with your system, so you can input, see and track your pallets online. We've grown to 125 UK depots, because smaller delivery areas equal more reliable service. We streamlined systems at our purpose-built Hub to ensure smooth operation. And we kept listening to you to stay ahead of your needs.

In 2017 we've delivered more than four million pallets. And we did it well. Challenge us. We challenge ourselves all the time.

TPN XL The UK's first pallet network offering for specialist freight

XL will handle pallets between standard size and the dimensions below

How can TPN XL benefit you

At The Pallet Network – TPN – we don't look at unusual freight and see, 'ugly', 'out of gauge' or 'irregular'. We see a need for excellence and expertise. That's why we have developed the UK's first dedicated pallet network offering for specialist freight, and re-engineered our Hub operations to make it happen.

What TPN XL gives you

TPN XL allows you to book in your freight online and be given specific collection and delivery windows. We will ensure the correct vehicles, the correct expertise and the TPN promise of excellent service.

This is a huge development for the specialist freight shipper. The efficiency and cost savings which come with the pallet network model have too often been denied to specialist freight because it does not fit well with loads optimised for standard pallets. This means specialist freight is often left until last, despatched without the expertise it requires, or refused altogether.

At TPN we believe in doing things properly. So our capacity-managed XL service will give you all the benefits of a great pallet network as well as the expertise and clear communication you need to ensure that your specialist freight is handled and delivered with the care it requires.

"XL is one of the biggest innovations in the sector since the invention of the pallet network"

Mark Duggan, MD, TPN

TPN XL - where expertise meets excellence

The Pallet Network – TPN – has always had the highest standards for service and customer care. Now we are turning that quest for perfect service to the specialist freight market.

We also listen to our customers – and your requirement for specialist handling and service guarantees from the pallet network sector came through loud and clear.

In response we have engineered one of the biggest innovations in the sector since the invention of the pallet network.

Our Hub will no longer be primarily a night-time operation. It will now be a 24-hour operation, offering our usual market-leading service for standard pallets at night and a specific, capacity-managed specialist freight network during the day.
